

PASS NON-PARTISAN ELECTION MEASURE

ASSEMBLY APPROVES BILL THAT APPLIES TO ALL CITIES IN WISCONSIN.

SOCIALISTS OPPOSED

Vote Was 71 to 14, Two Republicans Voting With Socialists—Amendment Defeated.

Madison, Wis., May 3.—The Wisconsin assembly today passed a non-partisan election bill to apply to all cities of the state. The vote was seventy-one to fourteen, two republicans, Reed and Draper, voting with the socialists in opposition. A socialist amendment to make it permissible to group on the ballot the names of all candidates designated under the same principle to be voted for as a group, was defeated. A sharp exchange of personalities marked the debate on the bill. Assemblyman Gilroy, socialist, characterized the non-partisan movement as a conspiracy to drive the socialists out of office. Gottle, of Edgerton, in a hot speech, characterized the socialist opposition as inspired by a desire to perpetuate the status quo in office rather than to uphold a principle. The assembly rejected the amendment and the non-partisan bill was passed. The bill was introduced by Assemblyman Gilroy, socialist, and was supported by Reed, republican, and Draper, republican. The bill was passed by a vote of 71 to 14. The amendment was defeated by a vote of 71 to 14.

SENATE CUTS DOWN APPROPRIATION MADE

Madison, Wis., May 3.—By a close vote, the senate last night after a debate of three hours, cut the appropriation to relieve conditions at the flood-stricken city of Black River Falls from $136,000 to $75,000. The measure will come up again in the assembly this morning. From the temper expressed by any assemblymen who heard the senate debate last night, it is evident that the assembly intends to stand by its guns. This means there will be a conference committee appointed to ascertain if a compromise cannot be effected. The bill appropriating money for the city are designed as two distinct acts. The original assembly bill set aside $136,000 to improve the sewerage conditions and remove the debris to insure public health and sanitation. In the senate Senator Sanborn proposed a resolution to cut the appropriation to $75,000. The amendment was accepted by a vote of 15 to 11. In this form the bill was passed unanimously. The second bill contemplated the appropriation of $71,000 for the construction of dikes and retaining walls. Senator Sanborn's amendment reducing it to $40,000 was incorporated by a vote of 17 to 13, and the bill in the amended form was then passed unanimously. Senators Sanborn and True spoke at length in favor of reducing the appropriation, both contending that if this amount were not sufficient that undoubtedly the next session of the legislature, which will convene within nine months, would make an additional grant. Senators Penasible, Linsley and Gaylord favored the total appropriation of $136,000. They contended that words could not describe the devastation at Black River Falls, and that the state is morally obligated to grant as much as sufficient to reconstruct as much of the devastated section as possible. They showed that their estimates were based upon a report of Prof. D. W. Mead, a university engineer, who made an independent investigation of the conditions. Penasible showed that the last legislature appropriated a greater amount than was asked for in the original bill for the construction of monuments. He said that it would mean an addition of only four cents on every $1,000 worth of property valuation in the state.

SEN. REED ATTACKS COMPENSATION BILL

Claims Bill Before Senate Is Most Revolutionary Legislation in Twenty Years.

Washington, May 3.—Senator Reed, Missouri, today attacking his speech on the workers' compensation bill in the senate today, denounced the measure as the most revolutionary legislation undertaken for twenty years, saying it would wipe out all common law rights, as well as state statutes and acts of congress. Mr. Reed asserted that the labor organizations as such, had no opportunity to pass on the merits of the pending bill and took the position that no true friend of organized labor, such as himself, could afford to vote for it in the absence of their approval.

METHODISTS OPPOSE WORLDLY AMUSEMENT BUT ABOLISH RULE

Take Attitude That Card Playing, Gambling, Theater-Going And Horse Racing Cannot Be Restricted by Church Rules.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Minneapolis, Minn., May 3.—"The American people are too far advanced to be restricted by church rules as to what their amusements shall be, and the rule prohibiting card playing, gambling, going to horse races, and circuses, therefore should be abolished."

This is the gist of a report presented today at the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church board of missions. In recommending a change in discipline the twenty-four active bishops stipulated that the church, however, should not be indifferent on the subject but that the people should be left to judge for themselves what is right and what is wrong in seeking their amusements, having before them only the injunction of John Wesley which forbids "The taking of such diversion as cannot be taken in the name of the Lord Jesus."

No loss of life has been reported from the newly flooded area, but many stories of thrilling escapes are coming in and it is thought there are many still in danger.

FACULTY TEAM LOSES TO STUDENT QUINTET

Seniors Play Hard and Win From Pedagogues in Annual Basketball Game.

Youthful strength and experience at the game accounted for the victory of the high school seniors over the faculty team in the annual game of basketball at the high school gymnasium yesterday afternoon. The faculty were close to the seniors at the end of the first half when the score stood 8 to 6 but in the remainder of the game they succeeded in making but one field goal. HUGE DAMAGE DONE BY BREAK IN LEVEE

Mississippi Waters Rush Through Thousand Feet Breach, Causing Inestimable Damage in Louisiana.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New Roads, La., May 3.—The yellow waters of the Mississippi river today are sweeping from the one thousand foot breach in the levee in ever increasing torrents. It is impossible to estimate the financial loss which extends from the homes of one parish—Point Coupee—and parts of several others, but it is certain to amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars. The sugar cane, cotton, rice and corn crops, which were well started, will be a total loss, and the loss of live stock will be heavy. Torras was practically cut off from wire communication last night, the water having burst the cross arms of the telegraph poles.

Trains were running on roads between different points carrying the refugees. Hundreds of people driven from their homes were picked up at several stations and brought to New Roads, but a great many of them refused to leave and preferred to take chances with the water. Farmers could be seen in every direction herding live stock from the levees. No loss of life has been reported from the newly flooded area, but many stories of thrilling escapes are coming in and it is thought there are many still in danger.

On West Side. New Orleans, May 3.—The levee on the west side of the Mississippi river five miles north of Morganza broke this afternoon. The first news received here stated eight people were drowned. OBSERVE ARBOR DAY IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

OUT-OF-DOOR PROGRAM

With a May Pole Dance by Kindergarten Children is Enjoyed at Adams School.—Other Programs.

"Arbor and Bird Day," also "Fire Prevention Day," was observed with appropriate exercises in the various schools of the city by the children this afternoon. Teachers spoke to the pupils this morning on the purpose of the day which is set aside by the governor of the state for the profitable study of nature in all its attractive features.

The fire prevention idea was emphasized for the first time in connection with the observance of Arbor day. Children were warned as to the dangers in using fire, were shown how to use it as well as to construction of fire escape, and were shown how they might help in saving and protecting nature and property from its ravages.

The importance of the fire prevention aspect was given special distinction at the Adams school this afternoon when the entire number of pupils marched out of the building in fire drill. The exercises were held out-of-doors in the school yard and were participated in by the entire school. One feature of the program was a May Pole dance by the kindergarten pupils, the music for which was furnished by Miss Curtis at the piano. Rush Berg and Sydney Miller, two eighth grade boys, with violin and drums, respectively.

The rest of the program included recitations by the following children: Helen Baker, Bertha Claxton, Curtis Wall Dorothy Cook, Kurt Tucks, Edith Schoof, Kenneth Engstrom, Madge Chittell, Rosaline Cook, Loretta Moore, Georgia Kueck, Margaret Lovew, Roy Caburn and Marion Decker.

Among the songs which were sung were the following: "The Daisy," by the Second grade; "Awa, Awa, Awa," Sixth grade; "In the Woods Is Peace," Eighth grade; and "The Song of the Brook," by the Sixth grade. The song, "Miss Daisy," was sung by Ruth Roberts.

At the Jackson school recitations were given by the following pupils: Alfred Graf, Alice Meyer, Helen Ronda, Gladys Schultz, Mabel Techtman, Inel Homay, Viola Hogan, Franklin Kennedy, Florence White, Cora Anderson, Paul Ryan, Beale Took, Harry Anderson, Maxine Kennedy, Myra Anderson, Ella Techtman, Margaret Heise, Elaine Dorn, Hazel Kramer, Nellie Landsverk, Gertrude Quirk and Elsie Blum. The two rooms, first and second grades, and third and fourth grades, united for the program which was given this afternoon. One feature of the program was a dialogue, "Ten Little Indians," by the following children: Myrtle Jossens, Hattie Blum, Virginia Kennedy, David Cook, Natalie Luster, Chester Kibbey, Lawrence Gower, Warner Kibbey, George Gruvera and Ethel Vandell. Songs of spring time were sung by the various grades and by the entire school.

At the Douglas school the four grades met in the principal's room and a fine program of recitations and songs were given. At the Grant school each grade had its separate program of songs and dialogues after the usual custom of observing the day.

At the Washington school all the grades enjoyed programs this afternoon. The seventh and eighth grades joined for their exercises and at the close of the program a May party was enjoyed with ice cream and cake were served.

Programs were presented at the Jefferson school. In several of the higher grades the children of the lower grades furnished the exercises, speaking pieces and singing songs about the flowers, trees and birds. At the Lincoln school the three upper grades united and the three lower grades went together for their exercises. The pupils at the Webster and Garfield schools also enjoyed excellent programs.

NO CASCARET USER EVER HAS HEADACHE

A 10 cents box will keep your liver, stomach and bowels clean, pure and fresh for months.

Sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, constipation, foul taste and foul breath—always trace them to torpid liver, delayed fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system, is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Salts, cathartic pills, oil and purgative waters force a passage for a day or two—but they don't take the poisons out and have no effect upon the liver or stomach.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poisons in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—no violent bowels and no clear head for months. Ask any of the millions of Cascaret users if they ever have headache.

The notice was signed by F. H. Wade, superintendent of M. P. & M. Dept. Another change which has taken place recently in the officials is the promotion of C. L. Tenney to the position of roadmaster created by C. T. King on the Wisconsin division.

While working on the clock this morning in looking for a piece which might have been shipped, Gaultin caught his probable factory organ on the hands and nearly hung himself. Some witness of the accident thought he was trying to kill time.

GAIN IN BUSINESS OF POSTAL BANK

Bank Now Has About Two Hundred Depositors And Business Is Slowly Increasing.

Business at the postal savings bank at the local post office, established last fall by a special order of the postoffice department, is reported by Postmaster C. L. Valentine to be slowly increasing.

In the neighborhood of two hundred depositors hold deposit certificates in the bank, representing savings of several thousand dollars, the rules of the postoffice department forbidding the publication of the exact amount on deposit. This amount of money is made entirely of small deposits made at times since the bank was opened, and it indicates that the bank is fulfilling the purpose for which it was opened. The local postal bank has recently been designated to receive all money placed in as postal savings deposits at Oshkosh and Evansville, which have not yet qualified for postal savings banks.

On June 15, all holding deposit certificates may, if they so desire, purchase government bonds, payable at two and a half per cent interest, if they make application for the bonds before the fifteenth of next month.

Mail Collectors. Commencing Sunday, May 5, the order from the post office department to discontinue the collection of mail from the residence districts of the city will be put in effect, and no collections of mail will be made outside of the business portion, including all boxes on the main streets, at the hotels and the depots. The post office is endeavoring to cut down the working time of its employees on Sundays, and as the amount of mail collected from the residence parts of town is small, it has been decided that the collections are not necessary on the Sabbath.

The cards for the mail boxes, announcing the hours of collection of mail daily and on holidays, have all been placed on the boxes, the last of them being put on the boxes today.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS by DAN McCARTY

They're Off!

The United States league, the first really pretentious baseball organization to get past the dream stage since the American league came into being a dozen years ago, has started its career with seven road clubs, backed by real money, and everybody's wondering what the outcome will be.

It's a hard question to answer. When the American league magnates set up in business, folks thought they were taking a desperate chance. They themselves thought so, some of them, at least. But today most of them are pretty comfortably fixed as far as this world's goods are concerned.

It isn't going to cost as much, naturally, to see the United States league teams in action as it does to see the majors. They're going to charge thirty-five and fifty cents for the grandstand, and twenty-five for the bleachers. At those prices, the new venture is certain to offer a tempting prospect to a class of fans who are perfectly willing to pay twice as much to watch the big leaguers, but who can't afford it.

Major league baseball is played in five of the most cosmopolitan cities: New York, Washington, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago and Cleveland. The others are Reading, Pa., and Richmond, Va. No players have been signed by any club who are under the ban of organized baseball. They have no desire to make the United States league an outlaw organization.

Harry Wolverton wishes he could shake some good base hits out of his Yankee bunch.

Harry Walter is the only Yank with a batting average that is worth nothing. As a team, Wolverton's crowd is hitting something like .200, or less, which isn't the kind of clubbing that wins pennants, or games, either.

Maybe Roger Bresnahan figures that the higher up in the air a pitcher can get, the more effective he ought to be. It's doubtful if there is anything better than the pitcher's mound in the country that compares with the Cardinals' Dyer is the smallest member. He stands five feet, eleven inches. Of the ten men on the staff nine stand six feet or better. Seven stand better. Dyer, a youngster, is the giant of the bunch. He is six feet, four.

If Roger's bunch works out, other managers may be expected to mount their star slappers on stilts.

Jack Curley is not a good citizen. The fact became patent when he passed up a big bid from Paris for the Johnson-Flynn fight.

If you really must put this thing across, Mr. Curley, why not tap the Frenchman's till instead of that of your countryman?

LOCAL TEAM MEETS BELOIT NATIONALS

Janesville Baseball Association Will Play First Game of Season at Yost Park Sunday Afternoon.

The Beloit Nationals vs. Janesville is the game scheduled for the Yost Park diamond Sunday afternoon, May 5. This will be the first game of the season for the local nine which has just been organized. The best baseball material in the city has been recruited by Manager Clark who is enthusiastic over the prospects of putting Janesville on the baseball map.

The Beloit team is the strongest nine in the Lake City and has the advantage of a longer organization. They were easily the best team in the county last season and are out for the honors this year with W. H. Williams, manager and O. N. Nelson, assistant manager. The team has secured Yost Park for their home games and the management is now arranging a schedule of Sunday afternoon contests.

On the pitching staff of the Janesville team is Butters, Schurin and Clark, with Hall behind the bat. It has not yet been definitely determined who will occupy all of the infield positions but some good players are candidates and will be given trials.

The Nationals will have either E. Moon or Haukin in the box to start the game Sunday with Gray in the catcher's position.

The game will be called promptly at three o'clock and a large number of Beloit and Janesville fans are expected to attend. Special transportation arrangements will be made with the Rockford and Interurban company. Be a booster! Help to establish a Janesville baseball team.

Large field at Beloit yesterday afternoon for the college baseball team to win by a 4 to 3 score from the Chinese players from a Hawaiian college who are touring this country.

The game started with some good work on both sides which was continued to the end. Beloit was weak at the stick being credited with but five hits in the entire game while Williams held the visitors to six hard-earned singles. Beloit scored first in the third inning when two men crossed the home plate. The Chinese committed one run in each of the fourth, fifth and sixth innings and Beloit tied the score in the sixth. Then the teams settled down to a hard grind to determine the outcome.

Williams did some good work in the sixth when the Chinese had their best chance of winning the game. Their first man at the bat pounded out a three-bagger, and their second man reached first and stole second. A fly to center, a strike out and an out on first ended the inning without a score.

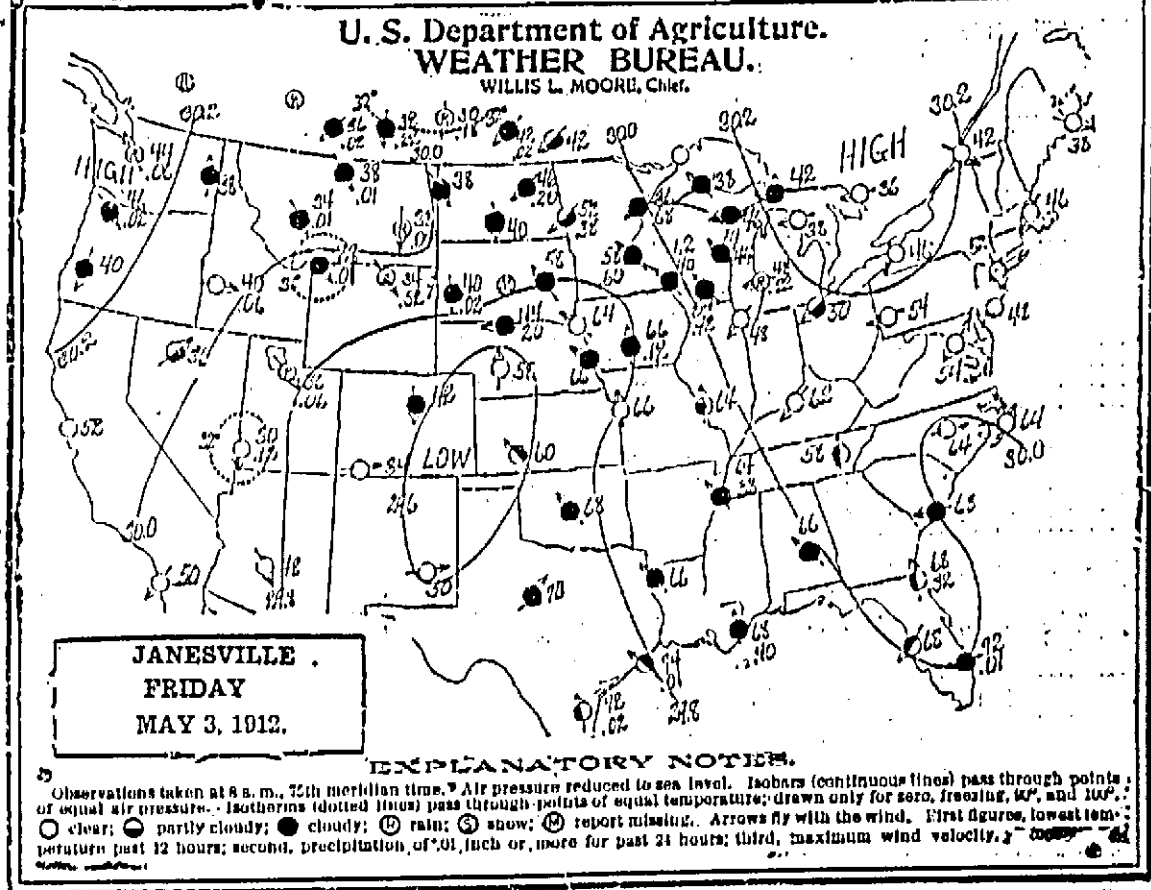

Beloit's winning run was scored on a scorching grounder through short by Gray which brought in below who had walked to first and had been advanced by Funk's sacrifice. The entire game was clean and well played.

The score:
Beloit: 4 5 7
Chinese: 3 4 5

Batteries: Beloit, Williams and Funk; Chinese, Luck Lee and Kan Yin.

Struck out: by Williams, 9; by Luck Lee, 5; bases on balls: off Williams, 1; off Luck Lee, 1.

(By Associated Press.)
St. Louis, Mo., May 3.—It was learned today that Roger Bresnahan, manager of the local team of the National baseball league, was taken to a hospital last night, suffering from influenza pneumonia. He contracted the cold shortly before the team went to Pittsburgh and aggravated it further by directing his men on wet grounds in that city and in Chicago.

The barometric depression in the Mississippi and Missouri valleys has been the scene of numerous showers and thunderstorms during the past 24 hours. The heaviest rainfall was moved in from the northwest over 1.12 inches at Milwaukee. It is warmer in the east, in the lake region, and the region of stronger barometric gradient in the Upper Lake Region, and upper Mississippi valley, and in the Columbia basin. Colder weather prevails in the northern Rockies, and in the Colorado plateau region.

Conditions continue favorable for showers or thunderstorms in this vicinity tonight or Saturday. There will be little change in temperature.

EXPECT FAST BOUTS ON MONDAY EVENING

Each of Four Matches Scheduled Promise to be Closely Contested in Opinion of Local Fans.

Each of the four boxing matches scheduled at the auditorium building by the Janesville Athletic club for next Monday evening, May 6th, promise to be closely contested in the opinion of local fans. Considerable interest has been shown in the outcome of the Morshed-Singer go as many are anxious to see the Milwaukee man put up his head against an opponent who will be his equal in many points. Morshed displayed some of his possibilities when matched here with De Anna last month but the Beloiters had lacked the experience and knowledge of the sport. He had only his own "game" to match with the opponent's superior head work and skill.

The Beloiters favorite will have an opponent worthy of his mettle in Jack Craft of Madison. There will be a large number of fans from both of these cities at the ring-side to cheer on their men and this eight-round preliminary promises to be a great bout. Aside from the match in which Kid Sharkey, the local aspirant, will meet Ted Young of Milwaukee in a six-round preliminary, the Harrison-Sourlog out will command a large amount of attention. Fans who saw Harrison in action at the last match know that he has a powerful offense and that his opponent must be a first class boxer. Noaring of Milwaukee is heralded as a fast and clever man and is relied upon to mix things generally in the eight round semi-final.

In addition to the regularly scheduled bouts the exhibition go between Jimmy Welch, the English light weight champion and a Milwaukee boxer will be an attraction of interest. Demand for seats is already good and a record attendance is predicted.

MISSOURI MARATHON RUN WILL BE HELD SATURDAY.

Course Twenty-five Miles Long From Freeburg, Illinois, to St. Louis—Big Entry List.

St. Louis, Mo., May 3.—The fact that the winner will have a good chance of representing America in Olympic games at Stockholm this summer has served to increase the interest in the annual Marathon run of the Missouri Athletic Club, which is to take place tomorrow. The entry list is the largest in the history of the event. The contest will take place over the usual twenty-five mile course, starting at Freeburg, Ill., and finishing at the club house of the Missouri A. C. in this city.

BACK OF THE ORDERS.

If any of the persons afflicted with the particular trade affected by the closing ordinance or by the proposed seven ordinance earnestly believe that the orders were merely the inception of Chief of Police George Appleby, the easiest way to find out the temper of the people as a whole is to go ahead and violate the ordinances and laws and see what the consequences are.

The people are behind the mayor and councilmen and they in turn are behind the chief of police. It is sometimes a dangerous proposition to go directly against public sentiment and some of the men who are most earnestly condemning the chief and his actions in enforcing the law would be the first to squeal if favors were shown any other line of business which was exclusive and not according to the law.

Once in a while the liquor element overstep themselves. Once in a while they begin to think they are all powerful. They tried it in Rockford and the city went dry. Then they promised to be good and a second trial was given them, but strange to say public sentiment was against them and they went dry again. It should be a significant lesson and one which can well be taken home by local men who object to laws which affect what they term their privileges.

It is not fair to class all the persons holding retail liquor licenses in this class. The majority, yes a big majority, welcome the order as a relief from seven days of labor. The only thing they ask for is that if they obey the law the remainder of their brethren be compelled to do likewise. Chief Appleby is backed by the commission in his work of making the city law-abiding, and behind the commission are the citizens, despite the offer of one disgraced retailer who offered to start a subscription list with five hundred dollars for the recall of one member because an order issued injured his "special privilege."

THE TRUE SENTIMENT.

While the "yellow sheets" of the country are proclaiming an immediate war with Japan. While the senators in congress assembled distinctly state that the Japanese are a menace to this country, what a relief it is to turn to the following items from the Christian Herald and the gift of the Americanized Japs of New York City to their adopted land. It makes one almost believe that these tales of war are all terrible dreams of the Jingoists who seek political capital by a cheap, cheap sort of patriotism. The tale of the gift of the Japanese is as follows:

"The first of three thousand budding cherry trees, the gift token of Japanese residents of the city of New York, were set out the other day at Grant's tomb by Park Commissioner Stover. Tenderly, almost reverently, Mr. Enomoto, the Japanese expert who superintended the planting, handed the first tree as he placed it in the earth, while all the Japanese stood with bowed heads. This tree was one of the great variety, the rarest of the cherry tree species. Of the two thousand trees presented the committee were able to get only thirty of them. The color of the blossom is light yellow, with greenish spots. The other trees bear blossoms of varying shades from delicate pink to a deep red. The trees are not fruit-bearing, the cherries being small and bitter. The shoots set out were about four feet in height and about the diameter of a thin walking-stick. In Japan the trees reach a diameter of three feet when fully grown, and the average age is more than one hundred and fifty years. A tablet made in the Tokyo Art School, commemorating the gift of the cherry trees, will be placed in the park space east of the tomb. How beautiful, like the cherry blossoms, was the love in the hearts of the Japanese that prompted the gift—love for their home land and its national tree, and affection for the land of their adoption!"—The Christian Herald.

IS T. R. ELIMINATED?

In a "statistical study" of the convention delegates yet to be elected, the Taft bureau on Thursday declared that Roosevelt will be eliminated as a possible nominee the moment President Taft or Senators La Follette or Cummins elect two more delegates against him.

"Mr. Roosevelt needs 213 more delegates to control," the statement said, "and there remain to be elected only 314 more delegates, about whose position, as between the candidates, the people have not already spoken. Both Arkansas and Nevada are ready to act finally for Taft and those have been included in the table showing that Roosevelt has reached the end of his political rope in this fight."

TODAY'S NEWS TODAY.

No Chicago papers today as the result of the labor difficulties in their press rooms. This shows the advantage the Gazette subscribers have over those who do not take a local paper but depend upon Chicago to furnish them the news of the world. The Gazette receives between four and five thousand words daily from the Associated Press which covers the entire world in its scope and is the only evening newspaper in southern Wisconsin outside of Milwaukee that is a member of this news gathering association. The readers of the Gazette do not have to wait until tomorrow to read today's news but have it all fresh from the wires up to the very time of going to press.

Out in the town of Harmony they state that the voters are signing papers which pledge the signers, regardless of party affiliation, not to vote for any candidate at the coming primaries who does not express himself as favorable to the repeal of the income tax law. It is a good move and one which every town, village and city in the county could follow with assurance it would be beneficial to the community as a whole.

Janesville has a city baseball team at last and the fans should support it. It is a good advertisement for the community and there are plenty of fast, snappy players here who will make matters interesting for outside contenders.

Grant was the most popular president the country had ever known when he left the presidential chair, but the people failed to return him to a third term when he asked for it, after being four years out of office. Perhaps history will repeat itself in 1912.

That Boy Scout movement is receiving encouragement the nation over. Janesville should not be behind in supporting a good company of these youths who will be well versed in out-of-door arts and pleasures.

PRESS COMMENT.

That Clean-up Idea.
Evening Wisconsin:—"The effort which is to be made to induce citizens to observe the 6th and 7th and 8th of the present month as clean-up days is worthy of encouragement. It should result in the thorough purification and tidying of every corner, every backyard and every alley in the city. But the good work should not end with this. There are untidy front yards, and there are untidy streets. Moreover a thorough clean-up in May could not be expected to suffice for the whole year, especially if the work were no sooner accomplished to undo it by scattering fresh litter."

To make the movement for a cleaner city effective there is needed more than a sporadic clean-up once a year. There is advisable a campaign of education that will result in the correction of the evil habit of untidiness that prevails very widely, and that will be a stumbling-block in the way of a cleaner Milwaukee as long as it survives.

The Old Way and the New.
Wausau Record Herald:—"If Teddy and William's great grand fathers had been running against each other the contest would have run something like this:
"Dot you better be, already," says Roosevelt to son.
"Choose thy weapons, thou varlet, or by my halldom I will rip upon thy carcase!" responds Sir Taft.
"Acht! Blunderbuses at ten paces!" retorts Roosevelt.
Now it runs something like this:
Mr. Roosevelt—"Greatly as it will surprise the public to hear it, I am bound to assert that my honorable successor is an unmitigated liar."
Mr. Taft—"Though it wrings my heart to part with the secret, a first Parting.

They say the best of friends must part.
But, Jim, I haven't got the heart.
To speak the last farewell to you,
A friend who's been so tried and true.
I have enjoyed your winning smile
And cheery ways for quite a while.
Your "Howdy-do?" has been a treat.
That's made my joy in life complete.
Your touching ways have reached my soul,
And, honest, Jim, upon the whole,
I could give up most anyone
Excepting you and call it fun.
When to my side I've seen you hope
For years I've had a kind, sweet hope,
A hope that has been deeply prized,
A hope that's never been realized.
Without a thought that's sad and drear,
I can afford to see you go
Away from me, 'Tis sad I know,
But parting will be easier when You've come and paid me back that ten.

Make Your Home Attractive With a Coat of Paint

"HIGH STANDARD" Paint is made to meet the requirements which a first class house paint must have to stand up under the severe wear which it gets when exposed to the weather. "High Standard" paint is better than other paint because it is ground finer, kneaded more thoroughly, works more easily, wears longer, wears better and is more economical than any other paint made, and we can prove it.

Screen Paint

For wire cloth, window and door screens. It flows easily from the brush and will not clog the mesh. It comes in two colors, green and black and sells for 30 cents a pint.

"High Standard" floor paint gives the best results, and there is nothing made which equals it, in the paint line, for porch floors.

Absolute Fairness:

In these days of exaggerated advertising and misrepresentation it will be interesting to know that our announcements are wholly sincere and not intended as "catch-penny" affairs the only purpose of which is to drag people into the store to sell them "something else." Contrary to custom we wish to sell the articles we advertise and we make the same offers in the press that we do to customers in person. Our great desire is to operate this store on such genuinely frank principles that the people may learn to turn to it with confidence.

"How did the bird know that?"
Every drug placed in our stock must measure up to our standard or it isn't put there.

Ours has not been a mushroom growth, springing up over night. It was slow—but sturdy—like that of the oak!

That's why we're so dependable today.

SCHOOL AUTHORITIES DRASTIC PUNISHMENT FOR A BOYISH PRANK

Howe School For Boys Dismiss Entire Upper Grades For "Breaking Bounds."

Fifty-six boys, all the Juniors and seniors at the Howe School for Boys at Howe, Indiana, except four, were summarily dismissed from that institution yesterday for a boyish prank and sent to their homes, among them six Janesville boys, Aubrey Pomeroy, Sidney Hestwick, Bruce Jeffers, Cal Hodge, Kenneth Parker and Stanley Yoncos. It appears that the breach of discipline occurred when the middle school, the two lower grades, were given a holiday yesterday and the upper school was kept at its regular work. Fifty-six out of the sixty students in these grades revolted and as a body took a walk up the railroad track, enjoyed an outing but returned promptly to the school when ordered to do so by the Head Master. The school authorities immediately dismissed the entire number of the boys and started them for their homes, several without enough money to pay their transportation to their destination. All the local boys, but two reached Janesville last night or this morning, several arriving home before the letters written by the authorities reporting their action, were received by their parents. The two lower grades and the four upper classmen who failed to join the outing party, are all that are left in the school.

SEND GIRLS TO JAIL FOR INTOXICATION

Mable Griffin Walker, Cella Millay, and Jennie Jacobson Given Five Days and Additional Fines.

Mabel Griffin Walker, Cella Millay, and Jennie Jacobson, arrested by Police Officers Sam Brown and Thomas Murdock on Franklin street at a quarter to eleven o'clock last night, were convicted in the municipal court, this morning on charges of drunkenness and given sentences of five days' imprisonment in the county jail and a fine of $5 and costs, or five days' additional. All, when arraigned, entered pleas of not guilty and their trial was called at once. City Attorney Dougherty conducted the prosecution. Officers John Brown and Sam Brown were called as witnesses.

Officer John Brown, on being sworn, declared that the three girls were all intoxicated when brought to the police station and charged in very impolite language, to being locked up. Two of them were in such a condition they fell asleep five minutes after put inside the cell.

Policeman Sam Brown testified that the girls were drunk and that two of them were in that condition nearly every night. They were yelling and cursing and using profane language and creating a disturbance in the neighborhood. Several complaints of their conduct had been made to him. The girls were in the company of several men and had been spending their evening in a winery on the Corn Exchange.

Mable Walker was the only one who took the stand. She repeated her statement that she was not intoxicated, but admitted drinking at intervals throughout the evening, and said that the other girls were with her.

A fourth girl, who gave her name as "Hose White" and claimed to be at her home, was arrested, but the case against her was held open. She was not in the company of the other girls. The police were informed that she had been told to move on by the police of Deloit and Rockford.

PIONEER OF COUNTY
FOUND DEAD IN BED

W. W. Eastman, Who Had Lived Here
64 Years, Dies Suddenly at His Home in Evansville.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Evansville, May 3.—W. W. Eastman, who resided on Cherry street, was found dead in bed by his wife Thursday morning. Although Mr. Eastman has been sick and failing for the past fifteen weeks, he has not kept his bed, being unable to lie down only a little while at a time on account of heart trouble. He was out a little while Wednesday afternoon, and in the evening sat in his chair until 11 o'clock when he remarked to his wife that she had better retire and he would try to sleep. As he seemed no worse than usual she did so. When she came down in the morning he had passed away.

Mr. Eastman was born in the town of Wales, Erie Co., New York, and was seventy nine years old the first day of last February. He moved to the town of Magnolia Rock Co. in 1848 and has lived in Wisconsin ever since with the exception of three years that he served his country in the Civil war. He enlisted from Magnolia into the 33rd regiment Wisconsin Volunteer Infantry. Mr. Eastman lost his health while in the service and never fully regained it. He was the last of a family of nine who all died with consumption except himself.

Mr. Eastman is the ninth Civil war veteran more than one-fourth of all the war soldiers that has died in the town of Union within a year, which number is more than one-fourth of all the Civil war soldiers who were living in the town a year ago.

The funeral will be held from the house at 2:00 p. m., Saturday. Interment will be made in Maple Hill cemetery. Rev. C. H. Meyers will preach the funeral sermon and the G. A. R. will have charge of the burial service.

Mr. Eastman leaves a wife and one son, S. B. Eastman of Magnolia; one daughter, Mrs. George Collier of this city; also three grandchildren and one great-grandchild to mourn his going away.

Mrs. William Smith, The funeral of Mrs. Wm. Smith took place from the Methodist church Thursday afternoon. There were many out-of-town friends and relatives here, and the Eastern Star ladies attended in a body. There were many most beautiful floral offerings.

dren, four sons and four daughters. She was in her forty-first year. The funeral will take place Saturday afternoon at the M. E. church in this city and interment will be made in Passett cemetery.

MOTION PICTURE MEN ARE FOILED IN ATTEMPT TO TAKE PICTURE BY POLICE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, May 3.—A motion picture plot to show a "crank" attempting to reach President Taft was nipped in the bud at the White House this morning. A squad of picture men walked into the White House grounds accompanied by a venerable looking individual with a long, white beard. They set up their apparatus in front of the entrance of the White House and the white-bearded stranger started up the steps. Policemen on guard intervened before the picture men could begin business. The operators explained that they were seeking to get a realistic exhibition of a "crank" trying to enter the White House. The actor would have been turned back at the door and the picture machine would have taken in the interesting proceedings following his attempts to proceed into the White House. The picture men pleaded that the play be allowed to continue, but the White House authorities refused.

UNCOVER SKELETONS OF UNKNOWN RACE?

Discovery in Excavations at Lake Delavan May Have Important Archaeological Bearing.

The discovery of several peculiar skeletons of human beings while excavating a mound at Lake Delavan this week may furnish evidence to substantiate the Darwin theory that man is the descendant of monkey, or prove that a hitherto unknown race of men once inhabited Southern Wisconsin. Curator Charles E. Brown of the state historical museum at Madison will make an investigation of the discoveries within a few days.

Upon opening one large mound at Lake Delavan last fall, eighteen skeletons were discovered by the Phillips Brothers. Little attention was given the bones, and the elements soon turned the skeletons into a friable mass. When another mound was opened a few days ago, however, the excavators were struck by the peculiar facial characteristics. The bones, presumably those of the men, are very much larger than any race which inhabit America today.

From directly over the eye sockets the head slopes straight back and the nasal bones protrude far above the cheek bones. The jaw bones are so long and pointed that in looking at the inanimate frame, one is struck with its minute resemblance to the head of the monkey. The teeth in the front of the jaw are regular molars, resembling the molars in the mouth of a person today.

There were also found in the mounds the skeletons, presumably of women, which were similar to the other bones, but similar in facial characteristics. The skeletons are embedded in charcoal and covered over with layers of baked clay to shed water from the surface. The skeletons are generally found after excavating from four to ten feet of earth.

"BEST" Says the Housewife too

Millions of them say Calumet is "best"—and millions of them use Calumet day after day for bakings of every kind, for just one reason—its certainty of good results.

They know that every time they bake with Calumet, the baking will be fluffy and light as down—tempting and tasty and, easily digestible. They know that they'll never waste time or materials—that every baking will turn out right. For experience has shown them that with Calumet failures are almost impossible.

That alone is "worth" the highest price you ever paid for baking powder—but as a matter of fact, Calumet shows a great saving price over "trust" brands, and is more economical in use than cheap "big-can" brands. It gives the highest quality, the quality that won Calumet the highest award at the World's Pure Food Exposition.

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

BEWARE OF "HAMBURGER STEAK"

That "Hamburger steak" is dangerous as a probable source of ptomaine poisoning, is the warning of Dr. Cutler, Food Commissioner of Missouri. "Don't accept Hamburger steak that you find ready prepared in the butcher shop," said Dr. Cutler, "for it may contain remnants that are badly decayed, and you might as well be poisoned by cyanide or potassium or Prussic acid, as by the ptomaines of decayed meat. See that Hamburger steak is prepared in your presence, and you will then know that it is fit to eat."

A surer way to avoid ptomaine poisoning is not to eat Hamburger steak or any other, especially as it has been fully demonstrated that one can live very well without flesh meat of any kind.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES.

EGGS.

By Howard L. Rann.

THE egg is a tabloid by-product of the settling hen, who does most of her setting at a time of the year when everybody is toying with a plate of green corn. A hen will sit around all winter and look at 30 cents a dozen for eggs without moving out of her chair, but just as soon as people begin to associate with richer pie and other summer sweets, she will retire to the hay mow and sit there with her feet tucked up and her head bowed, waiting for the first sign of spring. The egg differs from man in one important respect—the older it grows the stouter it gets. Some very stout eggs were distributed about the country last winter, when, on being opened, were found to date back to the free silver campaign of 1896. People who encountered these eggs in the ordinary course of business were not pleased with the results and refused to accept them for any sum of money. In order to prevent unprofitable purchases from investing in sour eggs of the 1910 model, every farmer should be required to stamp the date of birth, and age at nearest birthday, on every egg produced on his premises. This would wipe out the leather-faced one, and save considerable confusion at company dinners. Restaurants carry a very elegant line of sample eggs, which come through a hard winter with so much vigor that they have to be opened with a hammer. The fresh egg is a natural curiosity, which town people would not recognize if they met it at breakfast table. Eggs would be used more if their age and general habits were certified to by a notary public.

Work of Real Forester.

The modern forester undertakes to make orchards profitable. There are orchardists, to be sure, who know very well how to care for their trees and who do care for them; but there are also orchardists that are neglected or handled unskillfully. The forester will take a run-down orchard and by intelligent, scientific treatment of the trees, with systematic care, make it produce big and handsome apples in abundance.

How to be Certain of Curing Constipation

Profound is a hard thing to overcome, but where health is at stake and the opinion of thousands of reliable people differs from yours, prejudice then becomes your enemy and you ought to lay it aside. This is said in the interest of people suffering from chronic constipation, and it is worthy of their attention.

In the opinion of legions of reliable American people the most stubborn constipation imaginable can be cured by a brief use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. You may not have heard of it before, but do not doubt its merits on that account, or because it has not been blatantly advertised. It has sold very successfully on word of mouth recommendation. Parents are giving it to their children today who were given it by their parents, and it has been truthfully said that more druggists use it personally in their families than any other laxative.

Letters recently received from Mr. E. M. Connolly, Geneva, Wis., and Mrs. E. Bolch, Hatfield, Wis., are but a few of thousands showing the esteem in which Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is held. It is mild, gentle, non-gripping—not violent, like salts or cathartics. It cures gradually and pleasantly so that in time nature again does its own work without outside aid. Constipated people owe it to themselves to use this grand bowel specific.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

HEART AND HOME TALKS BY BARBARA BOYD

The Marriage That Is Unromantic

A MAN whose engagement had just been announced said to an intimate friend, "Oh, there isn't anything romantic about this."

He didn't say it with any intention of stirring his marriage. But he rather prides himself upon being sensible and matter-of-fact. He doesn't believe in sentiment. And though he has done the thing that the world usually considers sentimental, he wants it plainly understood that he hasn't changed front. He's going to have no fool romance about his engagement and marriage.

It would be kind of interesting to hear what the girl has to say. Still, take his statement. Is he right? Is the marriage that is just plain bread and butter and no cake or frosting, the happiest?

To be sure, everything depends upon what he means by romance. If by it he understands that life after marriage is to be one blissful dream, and that he and his wife are to be angels with halos never on awry, and that there never will be a cross word or a late breakfast or a business engagement down town at night, then perhaps it is just as well to understand there is to be no such romance. It is just as well to come to the altar knowing that they are two very human people, and that when the honeymoon fire is out there will probably be words that will be regretted, and that when bills mount up more than they should, there will be a rather warm discussion of the financial question. It is better to know right from the start that such small cyclones do frequently generate in the domestic atmosphere.

But this isn't what this man means. Those who know him well know that he means something quite different. "He is the kind of man who will pay bills and never say a word. But neither will he tell his wife that he loves her. He would seem to take note of the anniversary of their engagement or wedding. That would be, being 'soft.' And he seems softness and 'mushiness.' He would never think of taking home a bunch of flowers. That would be a waste of money. He will never notice that perhaps she is fainting for a carous, a word of love, an expression of appreciation. All such things are romantic nonsense. This is the romance that is being left out of his marriage. He will do everything that a man can do to provide for her material comfort. He will slave at business early and late. He will see that the home has everything that is within his means to get, that will minister to her well-being. But he will give her none of those little tender, foolish attentions that a woman's heart craves. And he will fail to understand that not only she, but he himself, is missing much out of life by so doing.

We need the wheat in our fields, but we also need the flowers by the wayside. Expressions of love are the flowers of life, and the home that has no flowers in it is a home bare of much beauty and joy.

But—there is the woman. She hasn't expressed her opinion yet on the subject. She may have her own views as to a marriage without romance. And before he knows it, he may be so sentimentally romantic that even his best friends may not be able to endure him. It won't be the first time a man has started out to be one thing and has ended by being another,—in the hands of his wife.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Don't fall to try the new marmalade which is cheap, pretty and very, very good. The proportions are one and a half pounds of carrots, two lemons and a pound and a half of sugar. Grate the carrots and put them through the meat chopper, add enough water to moisten and put into a double boiler to cook. Wash the lemons, cut off the seeds and the white portion; put them on to cook in a double boiler. When they are well cooked, combine the two and add the sugar. Boil until thick, watching carefully to avoid burning. Put in glasses or jars, as desired.

One may vary this recipe by using two oranges and one lemon, which will be similar to orange marmalade. When you can't think of anything for luncheon or supper, try sardines on toast. Put the sardines into a frying pan and heat through. Place on hot buttered toast. Serve with raw onion chopped fine. The onion may be put in lettuce leaves and arranged around the plate.

Quick Egg Soup.—This is a wholesome and appetizing soup for children, and can be used for any meal. Stir a teaspoonful of beef extract into a quart of boiling milk, add a grated onion, an eighth of a teaspoon of celery seed or a little chopped celery, half a teaspoonful of salt, pepper to taste; stir constantly until it boils; strain over the yolks of two well-beaten eggs. Add four tablespoonfuls of cooked rice and serve very hot. Rice water will remove rust stains. Boil the spot in the water over night if the stains are obstinate, and they will disappear.

Spanish Toast.—Cut up two green peppers, a slice of onion and two sprigs of parsley; cook in a tablespoonful of butter and add a cup of thick strained tomato. Simmer until smooth and pour over buttered toast. Prunes and chestnuts cooked together make a delicious sweetmeat.

HOUSEHOLD TALKS

You a witness stand chance to prove up on your "Three black crows."

The speaker was sure it was three black crows. The story was true, back.

"Only two black crows," came the correction. Then, "Not two, but one," till the surprised original teller was found and said he was only talking of something as black as a crow.

"The story was in one of your school readers, wasn't it. Or was it one you heard yesterday with the crowd changed in number of species but not in color?"

Extravagance in speech! How it persists. People who are vain in every other way indulge in gushes of words now and then that can do more damage than the torrent of a broken dam.

"For a woman in your position to dress as you do shows immorality at once. You are no better than a woman of the streets." This is what Miss Esther Morcy, ex-president of the University of Chicago (testified Dean Marion Talbot said to her because she dressed beyond her means. Miss Morcy was the suit.

A fine modest use of English, wasn't it. If Dean Talbot used those words or any like them? And yet—If everybody had to account for the extravagant things they said, people would be kept as busy paying damages as grocery bills.

Did you ever sit in a hotel lobby and listen to the remarks by hangers-on?

Have you ever played cards with so-called ladies to the accompaniment of characters torn to shreds?

This ear incident is illustrative. An attractive young woman crossed the platform of a Chicago train car in Cleveland not long ago. Something insulting was said to her. A school friend of the young woman stood near and heard. He answered back in language the insider understood—a blow that sent him reeling from the platform.

That's one sure way to scatter black crows. An eastern woman found another.

She was entertaining. Two of her guests began a diet of slander against a common acquaintance. "Isn't it a pity she would do such a thing when she's so pretty and such a dear," they purred. The hostess looked them squarely and said so everyone could hear, "Yes, isn't it splendid that the weather cleared in the night?"

Have you the gumption to talk to shavers in the language they're sure to understand?

In Indiana they say gumption is putting the grease where the squeak is. Haven't you heard a lot of squeak in the human machinery about you?

Also, do you ask: "Could I prove it in court?" before you indulge in a little speaking yourself? Miss Morcy's suit has proved the wisdom of it. For someone may not pass your disagreeable talk by as idle chatter, but give

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

IN THE United States there are estimated to be one hundred thousand persons totally or partially blind. Furthermore, at least half of the educated classes in the United States are afflicted with serious defects of vision, as you can easily see by thinking of the number of people who are absolutely dependent on spectacles or eye glasses.

This is the startling statement which is put forth by a society founded to help conserve the American vision.

When one considers how delicate is the mechanism of our eyes and how all important they are to us—if we had our choice I think most of us would rather die than go blind—does it not seem strange that we know so little about our eyes and the way to take care of them?

For instance, most people continually overwork the eyes. Where eyesight is already defective such policy is suicidal. The length of application should be regulated to the strength of the eyesight, and the eyes should be rested occasionally, either by closing them for a few minutes or by looking at some distant object.

All work with the matter must be nearly perpendicular to the line of vision; that is, school desks and other supports should be tilted at an angle of about thirty degrees. How many of us do this?

Direct sunlight should never be used for any kind of close eye work, and windows which receive direct sunlight should be equipped with light buff or green holland shades.

We often speak of this or that kind of artificial light as being hard on the eyes. This is a wrong notion. All light sources in common use are capable of giving a light that is perfectly agreeable to the eye; it is the way in which the lights are used which makes the difference. The reason that the light from a kerosene lamp seems easier for the eyes is that such lamps are always placed on the table and nearly always covered with shades which completely hide the flame. Electricity, and gas burned in a mantle burner, when used in the same way, are just as good for the eyes.

In reading or writing, the light should not come from squarely in front; a desk lamp should always be placed to one side. In reading, always sit with the back towards the light or table.

It is a common mistake to suppose that one cannot have too much light. For reading or writing on white paper, or sewing on white goods, too much light may produce a dazzling effect.

Mirrors and polished surfaces should be avoided in places where much close work is to be done, as reflected light, especially from a low surface, is particularly hard on the eyes.

Lamps of any kind should not be too near the eyes, as the heat given off irritates them.

Perhaps you know and observed all these little precautions before. But if you did, you are certainly not my old friend, the average person.

But when I get it in the neck, and leave the polls a dismal wreck, vox populi is still; the cohorts of the money kings have formed a conspiracy and refuse to fight the people's will. The Gazette is desirous of keeping out of its columns fraudulent advertising and asks the assistance of its patrons to that end.

There are any number of concerns in the country who make a living through a nicely worded advertisement, offering golden opportunities, and these unscrupulous people find fertile ground for work among the masses.

Many orders are received in the Gazette mail for advertising which are returned as objects of suspicion and where there is a question as to the qualifications the advertisement is omitted.

All newspapers have this experience.

Longer Life for the Broom

A little intelligent care will make quite a noticeable difference in the work a broom will do and the length of time it will wear. A broom that is used every day should be washed once a week and this is most easily done by preparing a bucketful of soda made by dissolving a tablespoon of Gold Dust washing powder in hot water; dip the broom up and down in these soda until the straws are cleaned and bright; then rinse and hang up to dry. If a new broom is dipped in hot soda before used, the straws will be toughened and will not break so easily. Always hang the broom up after it is used.

The DIAMOND CIPHER

W. A. PHELON

Baseball Romance

Noon came, and the bandits who had pursued Solano began to straggle in. They brought no prisoner, and declared that the young Gringo must have been carried out and befriended by the devil. Torrojon, courteous as ever, made Brockett out with him, and asked him many questions concerning the great game of the American, its rules, its famous players. Towards one o'clock a sentry at the western edge of the clearing challenged loudly, and a moment later two bandits escorted a huge German gentleman to the presence of their commander. Baron Zollern bowed pompously to Torrojon, and then smiled mockingly at Brockett.

"I see, mein friend," quoth the baron, "that you are, at last, in safe hands. Very few your partner?"

The baron was much worried at the news that Solano had escaped, but expressed marked relief at the information that the Cuban had not succeeded in getting away with the letters addressed to Gomez Estel.

"Dat iss vell," he sighed, happily. "It iss, perhaps, better yet dat he has gone—he can not find nothing to say, and dere iss but de von left to disbosse off. Shall we get down to business? Vero iss de liddle leaders, captain?"

A sentinel at the northern edge of the clearing gave challenge, and two more of the bandits came across the glade. With them walked a little and the suave smile left the countenance of Mr. Yazimoto. Brockett, fascinated by the faces of these two men, whom he had thought removed from his path forever, almost forgot that he was a prisoner, and completely forgot the dangers of his situation as he listened to the quarrel.

Juan Torrojon stood by and smiled humorously at the babel of tongues, but finally seemed to tire of the uproar. He beckoned the young Mexican who had previously translated his words to Brockett, and calmly laid down the law to the contending spies.

"I must confess, senor," said Torrojon, pleasantly, "that I forgot which one of you should have precedence in your dealings with me. It is me, mein friend," quoth the baron, "that you are, at last, in safe hands. Very few your partner?"

mouthed at a snuff, almost insignificant individual, standing not ten feet from the bandits' side. The members of Torrojon's gang, suddenly converted into most peaceful citizens, and dropped their arms and were ranged in meek and gentle groups about the glade. Across the clearing was streaming a long column of superbly armed and mounted riders, and additional horsemen were already holding every exit from the camp-ground.

"I believe," the little man resumed, "that every man is entitled to a first perusal of his own correspondence. Will you kindly hand these envelopes to me, Herr Zollern? I am Gomez Estel."

Baron Zollern buttoned his coat, clenched his fists, and snarled defiance. "Not Nefert!" he roared, stepping forward and glaring at the little chieftain. "Dake dem offer my dead body—if you can!"

Gomez Estel smiled compassionately.

"I do not wish to be too strenuous," said he. "Still I think we can obtain the letters without having to commit any massacres."

The close-ranked horsemen opened up a lane and Ramon Solano, leaning on the shoulder of a small, stocky, red-headed boy, stepped up to the little chieftain. Brockett, with a whoop of delight, fell upon the Cuban, who hugged him delightedly for a brief instant, and then turned smiling to Gomez Estel.

"Why not let Baron Zollern keep his papers?" spoke Solano. "The real letters, Senor Estel, are here."

Gomez Estel took the battered old ball gingerly, as if suspecting a bombplot or a practical joke. Brockett, sending the comedy of the scene, laughed unrestrainedly for a moment, and then, taking the ball from the puzzled leader, ripped open the seams. The yarn was torn away, the papers came in view, and Brockett, still laughing, handed the crumpled missives to Gomez Estel.

"Madro de Dios!" cried Juan Torrojon, "but that was cunning work! The craft of a fox! The generalship of a Napoleon! But what, young friend, would you have done if you had not possessed this ball?"

Both boys joined in a peal of merriment. "That, Senor Captain," Brockett answered, "would have been the least of our troubles. We would have borrowed a new ball from you!"

Torrojon snatched his thigh with open palm. "Carraulin," he shouted, "and I would have given it, beyond a doubt! Then I would have been ten times more the monkey and what you Gringos call the goat! Gomez Estel, I am your prisoner. Do with me what you will—I do not care. After beholding a good joke such as this, I can meet any fate, well-satisfied!"

Gomez Estel spoke gravely, thoughtfully. "There is much here to perplex and baffle me. I will retire and reason out the full meaning of these letters. Rest you here, senor, all of you. I will return in perhaps an hour." And the little man, attended by two or three of his horsemen, disappeared amid the clatter of hoofs.

Baron Zollern drew the worthless envelopes from his pocket, tore them open, and stared at the blank sheets they had contained. Then, with a gesture of utter disgust and sardonic contempt, he offered them to Mr. Yazimoto. The Japanese struck them from the German's hand, sank down upon the sod, and snored like a little child. Baron Zollern drew himself up proudly, gallantly.

Mr. Yazimoto turned white beneath his sallow skin.

"I had imagined," he protested, "that the bargain concluded with the honorable captain was a business transaction. Unfortunately to declare, I brought no money with me. Still, if the honorable captain will agree, I will bring twelve thousand dollars before the sunrise of another morning."

Torrojon shook his head.

"I fear," said he, "that present opportunities must be accepted rather than future chances. Senor Zollern, permit me to present you with the documents in question."

Gravely with heartfelt pleasure, the German seized the envelopes and thrust them, unopened, into his pocket.

Mr. Yazimoto, clenching his small brown hands in rage and disappointment, eyed him like a wildcat hesitating before a spring.

"Dere was great need," said Baron Zollern, "that I should had dese ledgers. Herr Yazimoto, I repeat to you—you are endlessly welcome to do cipher code. Will you accept id from me tomorrow? Also, I promise you, you shall had de opportunity to examine all portions of dese ledgers dot may concern you or your goferment. Not say you? Will you accept a second reading?"

"It seems to me," came a soft, well-modulated voice, "that a third reading will be better for Mr. Yazimoto. At least, that is my opinion."

Juan Torrojon, petrified where he stood, was staring open-eyed and open-

"For me," he spoke, "id iss all over. I may not go back to Berlin now. Young chentlemen, I congratulate you. You had outwitted me from start to finish, and you had dricked me at de last. Will you shake hands mit me?"

Brockett and Solano stood with bared heads as they clasped the baron's hand. A great soul had broken before them, and a patriot had come to the bitter ending of his drama. They clasped the German's hands—and all was silence save the sobbing of the little Japanese, unnerved and overwhelmed.

"Id vos not a fair contest," the baron said, patting the boys on the shoulder. "Dere vos you two—and against you twenty spies and skilled hunters of men. Sometimes, Herr Yazimoto and I worked together. Sometimes we worked apart. Mit all de resources at our command, vo kept upon de trail—two men can hardly voot twenty. Vo did all vo could—and yet you beat us, beat us at every place, and in every city. At last, here in Mexico, I believed vo had you—and you gave us de checkmate at de last turn off de road! Boys, again I congratulate you. You vill be great some day—I, Baron Zollern, crushed and beaten, say it now!"

"He didn't count de numbers right, dere," piped up the small red-headed youngster who had escorted Ramon Solano to the scene. "Where'd de bull bunch of youse n' been but for Mike McKane, I'd like tuh know?"

"What 'd like to know," queried Brockett, "is how you happened to get down here, anyhow? Who turned you loose?"

"Turned loose nottle," answered Mike McKane. "Didn't I tell youse guys I was goin' on dis trip? Well, I made good. Lissen tuh me, boy: youse two left a track so wide yuh coulda driven an ortomobile over it. When youse left Washin'ton I was right in de neighborhood. If youse wanta know, you'd a hadda heap of trouble gettin' clear from dat street fight w' de bulls but for me. I pointed 'em up an alley, an' dey went out it like a lotta boobies. After dat, it was plumb easy fer me to keep in touch w' youse. One or two times, youse did a doublet act, like a guy tryin' to Crow de shadows off when his wife has hired de Pinkie for watch 'em, but I kinda figured out just where you'd likely light—an' I didn't miss out once. Did dem letters have youse ague-assed?"

"Well, rather!" cried Brockett. "What's the explanation?"

Don't Be Nervous and Run-Down

New Tonic Tona Vita, Will Positively Restore Your Old Vitality.

Nervousness, depression of spirits, lack of energy, all run down, these are the chief symptoms of nervous debility, the modern affliction caused largely by the rush, hustle, and worry of modern life.

If you are a sufferer from this all-too-common complaint and cannot go to a high priced sanitarium to have rest and diet build you up, you should read carefully the following statement by C. N. Hunt, Esq., of 602 Sixth-st., Milwaukee, Wis., concerning the remarkable new tonic "Tona Vita" that has made such a great record during the past year.

Mr. Hunt says: "For a number of years my wife has been a sufferer from a continuous run down nervous condition and stomach trouble. I took her to a number of doctors, but none seemed to give her any relief. She grew constantly worse and her entire system became affected.

"She could hardly eat anything and would say the very thought of eating made her sick. She caught one bad cold after another and was always tired and languid. She had had headaches and attacks of dizziness.

"I got some Tona Vita a few months ago. My wife began taking the tonic that night and we were pleasantly surprised to notice an improvement after the second day. She is now like a different woman. The nervousness and depression are all gone, and she eats and sleeps better than she has for years. It seems wonderful to note such a change in her. I believe 'Tona Vita' is worth its weight in gold."

If you are debilitated and run down, above all things try "Tona Vita." You will never regret it, as it will build you up like magic. It is the finest preparation now on the market.

HOW JESUS PREACHED TO SPIRITS IN PRISON

Who They Are and the Cause of Their Imprisonment.

Pastor Russell Explodes the Theory That Jesus Preached to Dead Humans in Prison—Crowded Audiences Great Him in the Georgia Capital.

Atlanta, Ga., April 28.—Two crowded audiences greeted Pastor Russell here today. One of his discourses was from the text, "Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that He might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened in the spirit, by which (two experiences—death and resurrection) He preached unto the spirits in prison" (1 Peter iii, 18, 19).

This text has been made the basis for some very peculiar presentations. The difficulty in every case seems to be the failure to remember that the Bible always and everywhere teaches that the dead are really dead, that they know nothing, and that, therefore, it would be impossible to preach to the dead.

Spirits Once Disobedient.

The spirits to whom the message was given had proven themselves disobedient, says St. Peter. He even tells us the time of their disobedience—"in the days of Noah, while the ark was preparing."

Turning to Genesis vi, 1-5, we find there the cause of the disobedience of these angels who for a time had been permitted to see what they could do for the uplift of humanity, or, rather, permitted to demonstrate that the downward tendency of sin is incurable except in the manner which God has already arranged for through Messiah and His glorious reign of 1,000 years.

Instead of those angels helping mankind out of sin, they helped themselves into sin; and by so doing they increased the depravity amongst humanity until the astounding record is that "the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every imagination of the thought of his heart was only evil continually." The particular sin of these angels was that when they were granted the privilege of materializing--of taking human bodies--for the sake of helping and instructing mankind--they misused this power and took to themselves wives.

We are particularly told that the offspring of this improper union were giants, both physically and mentally superior to the fallen human family--"men of renown." The race thus in several centuries became so corrupt that apparently only Noah and his family were left uncontaminated.

It was then and there that God imprisoned these spirits ("angels, who kept not their first estate"), and are therefore called fallen angels, devils, demons. They were not imprisoned in some far-off world called hell, nor are they engaged there in stoking fires.

The record is that God cast them down, that they might not longer associate with the holy angels, but must be reserved in tartarus--our earth's atmosphere--Jude 6; 1 Peter ii, 4, 5.

When imprisoned or cut off from the privilege of materialization, many of the fallen spirits continued their active opposition to God, after the manner of Satan. Hence they are spoken of as his angels, his messengers, and he is spoken of as Beelzebub, their Prince.

How Jesus Preached in Death.

Here arises another question: If Jesus was really dead, as the Scriptures declare; if "He poured out His soul unto death" and made His soul an offering for sin, and His soul was not raised from the dead until the third day after His crucifixion, how could He in the meantime preach to spirits in prison, or to anybody else? We reply that He could preach in the same way that the Apostle refers to, saying, "Abel, being dead, yet speaketh" (Hebrews xi, 4); and again, in the same way that the blood of Abel is said to have cried to God--figuratively. Of one thing we are sure, namely, that Jesus gave no oral address while He was dead. He preached in the way we sometimes refer to when we say, "Actions speak louder than words."

It was the great object lesson which the fallen angels saw that constituted to them the great sermon that gave them a ground for hope. They admired Jesus' loyalty and faithfulness to God, but doubtless believed Him to be foolish; they never expected Him to arise from the dead.

But when they perceived His resurrection on the third day to glory, honor and immortality ("far above angels, principalities and powers"), His sermon to them was complete, namely, that "the wages of sin is death," but "the gift of God is eternal life" (Romans vi, 23). And as they realized thus the Power of God and the Love of God for His human creatures, the Apostle's words imply that this constituted to them a message of hope.

Doubtless there is much significance also in St. Paul's remarks, "Know ye not that the saints shall judge angels?" (1 Corinthians vi, 3). We do know that the holy angels need no judging, no trial; hence the Apostle must refer to a trial, or judgment, or testing of these spirits in prison who were disobedient, in the days of Noah.

Pays to Go Slow.

It is sometimes better not to get fighting mad over the impugned innocence of our friends until we learn the facts in the case.

DINNER STORIES

Dr. Hedger and Dr. Bartol spent a summer together down east. One Sunday Dr. Bartol preached to a congregation largely composed of fishermen. Dr. Hedger was curious to know the effect upon them, and asked one old salt what he thought about the preaching and the sermon. The reply was: "Well, his idea was absurd, and his language was preposterous."

Secretary of the Navy Meyer had some funny experiences when he was in the diplomatic service. While he was at London an American tourist called on him. "Have you been to Pompeii?" asked Mr. Meyer of his visitor. "Oh, yes," was the reply, "and it was very strange and interesting. I think something must have happened there; the blessed place was mostly ruins."

The late Marvin Hughitt, president of the Northwestern railway system, called his auditor to his office one day and asked: "You have a young man named Cunningham in your division, have you not?"

"Yes, sir," replied the auditor. "Well, keep your eye on him."

"What for? He's one of my best men."

"Well, he ought to be, I saw him and his wife depositing money in a savings bank the day before Christmas."

In a recent debate at the Wichita High School the woman suffrage amendment was under discussion. "It would be unwise to give women the ballot," declared a budding Daniel Webster, in attacking the proposition. "Woman could not be relied upon to exercise good judgment in voting. She chose her mind far too often." The next speaker was a young woman. She arose and cast a pitying glance at her opponent. "I would like to ask my honorable opponent," she cooed sweetly, "if he ever tried to change a woman's mind, once it was made up?" The young woman got the decision.

The other day a dairy company's complaint clerk was called to the telephone. A woman's voice was heard. "This is Mrs. Maxin," said she. "I want to know if your cows are contented." "What?" asked the amazed complaint clerk. She repeated her question. "I see that your rivals advertise their cows are contented," said she. "I will begin to take their milk unless I am assured that your cows are all happy." The complaint clerk begged her to hold the phone a moment. Then he went away and gnawed a corner off his desk. When he got his voice under control he returned to the phone. "I've just been looking up the books," he said, "and I am happy to say that we have not received a complaint from a single cow."

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

IN HALF AN HOUR.

In half an hour you can--
Toss a pleasant joke to half a score of persons and lighten their daily task or help some youngster do his difficult sum or lift him over some barrier.

Or--
You can hold friendly converse with some discouraged neighbor, or write a postal card to some lonely one, or mail a message of fraternal greeting.

Or--
You can speak the little word in season to your wife or husband to shorten the weary day and bring the often smile or get in touch with the optimism of nature and give yourself an impetus for the duties of the morrow.

Or--
You can read a page or two of Tennyson or Ruskin or Hugo or the other masters and think their thoughts and feel the beat of their emotions after them.

Or--
You can relax your tired nerves and strong bent energies and while resting link yourself with the infinite forces that make for strength and righteousness.

All this you can do--and more--in one short half hour.

On the other hand--
In one half hour you can move among your fellows with "no glorious morning face" or word of cheer or you can speak the words that smart and scorch and sting the heart of a friend like the cruel blow of a whiplash.

Or--
You can write a message of meanness to one who should be dear to you and fill his hours with bitterness or with sadness, or you can withhold the smile you owe to your own and cloud the skies you should try to clear.

Or--
You can alight the sunlight and breeze and flowers and birds and live like a stranger in your own world, or you can live without rest or relaxation from incessant labor and strain to the snapping point the delicate threads of life.

Or--
You can read that which is only for the moment and fill your mind with mental trash or that which is vicious and fill your hours with moral filth, or you can push some fellow mortal whose feet have mislaid the way farther down the road to ruin.

The half hour is yours.

What will you do?

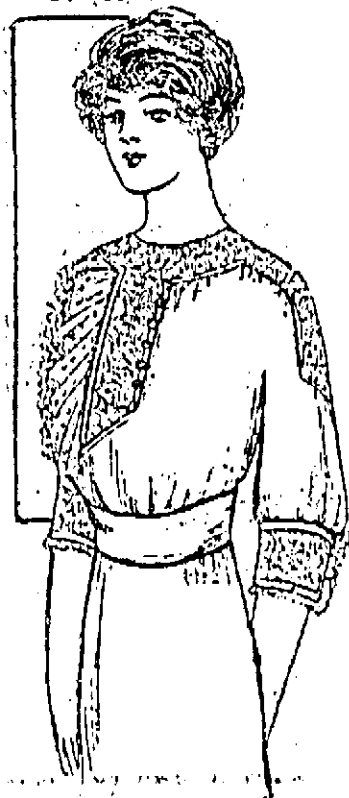

Uncle Allen's Gloomy Forecast.
"They say," reflected Uncle Allen Sparks, "that this new singer--what's her name--Tetterly something or other--Tetterly, is it? Thank you--well, they all say she's a greater singer or than Patti. That's going to make trouble. The first thing you know, Patti will come back to this country and give another farrowed tour, just to show 'em it isn't so, b'jucks!"

Avoid Fits of Passion.
The very instant you perceive yourself in a passion, shut your mouth and keep it shut until your blood cools. This advice, if always followed, would save many a life of bitterness and of deep, incurable anguish.

Use of the Horse.
Owing to the advancement of science it would be possible to get along without horses now, if it were not for the necessity of having a few of them at the annual horse shows.

CIGARMAKERS' BALL WAS BIG SUCCESS

Social Affair Given by Edgerton Union on Wednesday Night Was Greatly Enjoyed.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Edgerton, May 2.—The social center of attraction in this city last night was the May party and ball given by the Cigarmakers' Union No. 100, in Academy hall. The Hatch harp orchestra of Janesville, consisting of seven pieces, rendered a highly pleasing concert program from 8:30 to 9:30, being assisted by Edward Alington, xylophone soloist. Each and every number was received with enthusiasm and was as follows:

March—T. M. A. Clark

Selection from "Louisiana Lou".....

Wings of Love—A. Hoverson.....

Intelligence—"Sparkling Eyes" with variations for xylophone.....

Vocal Solo—Selected.... Geo. L. Hatch

Chorus—"Chiffon"..... Moore

In point of attendance the event proved beyond expectations, about one hundred and twenty-five numbers being sold. The dance proved one of the most social and joyous ones ever given in the city, and being the first annual ball given by the organization reflects much credit on the committee who had the matter in charge, and the participants all expressed themselves in the highest terms of the good time enjoyed. One year hence the second number of the series promises even a larger attendance.

Southernmost Settlement In the World.

Ushuwaia, America's Siberia

THE lonely Argentine colony of Ushuwaia, at the extreme end of South America, is by far the southernmost settlement in the world. It lies more than 1,300 miles farther south than the Cape of Good Hope and considerably below Punta Arenas, which is generally supposed to be the most southern human habitation. Few vessels ever visit this land of perpetual winter, which, through the greater part of the year, is completely cut off from the outside world.

Ushuwaia, which numbers about 5,000 souls, is made up of Argentine soldiers, convicts—for it is a penal colony—native Indians, fur traders and missionaries. It is the only settlement on the island of Tierra del Fuego and serves as an American Siberia for transporting prisoners for various offenses. Argentina, which owns this remote island, does not have capital punishment and disposes of many of her convicts by transporting them for life to this island.

The southernmost country of the globe is cold and barren, its rugged mountains and towering glaciers being naturally unproductive. The native Indians herd sheep, from which they produce a little wool. The wild animals yield some furs, and there is even some mining for gold, but here the native products cease. The settlement of Ushuwaia is policed by some 250 Argentine soldiers.

The southernmost settlement stands upon Beagle channel, which lies far south of the strait of Magellan. Few vessels ever pass through this tortuous waterway, preferring the longer journey around Cape Horn. Beagle channel cuts deeply into the great mountains and glaciers, whose shores present some of the most awe inspiring scenery in the world.

Ushuwaia is to be visited this winter by a cruising steamer, when the steamship Bluecher of the Hamburg-American line will pass through Beagle channel on its annual South American cruise. This will be the first time a large steamer has passed through this remote channel, so that its passengers will be the first body of tourists to enjoy this wonderful scenery.

Leaving New York in the latter part of January, Ushuwaia will be reached in February, which is midsummer in this extreme southern region, although even then summer showers may be replaced by snowstorms blown in from the south.

BLACK ROT REMEDY IS NOW DISCOVERED

Experiment Station Officials Claim They Have Found Cure for Cause of Serious Tobacco Loss.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., May 3.—That they are on the eve of a discovery that will save the tobacco industry of Wisconsin and the nation millions of dollars from the ravages of "black rot" is the belief of officials of the agricultural experiment station of the University of Wisconsin. Authority for this statement is James Johnson, assistant in horticulture. "Black rot" appears in tobacco after it has been packed. A buyer is not able to ascertain what the waste from this source will be until the tobacco is sampled after it has been curing in bundles for several months.

Sampling of last year's tobacco crop has just begun in the large warehouses in this city. The average loss to a 300-pound case is found to be about twenty pounds. In one case over one-half of the tobacco was found to be damaged. At Edgerton, a large tobacco packing center, near here, and at Viroqua, where the large warehouses of west and northwest Wisconsin growers are located, the loss is small. While "black rot" has been common for a number of years, its dangers were made known to the staff of the experiment station a few months ago by the discovery of "rot" in some tobacco grown by the station. An investigation was immediately started and has been carried on since by Prof. Johnson.

"Our experiments," said Prof. Johnson, "have brought some important results which will not be given in detail to the public until placed in bulletin form. Black rot can be controlled by proper sweating and curing processes. Many theories have been advanced as to how to control the disease, but the packers who suffer most from it admit they know nothing about the cause of the remedy. One packer is hit hard one year and another the next. Our remedy when announced will not be in the care and growth of the plant but in showing the proper methods for curing tobacco, so that this variable loss, reaching as high as $2,000,000 in 1912 can be eliminated."

The effect of this discovery will be of unusual importance to Wisconsin growers, many of whom cure their own tobacco. Over 40,000 acres are grown in thirty-five counties. The most important tobacco crop centers are in the counties of Barron, Dunn, Chippewa and Eau Claire in northwestern Wisconsin; Buffalo, Trempealeau, Jackson, Vernon, La Crosse and Richland counties in western Wisconsin; and Dane, Rock, Green and Columbia counties in the southern portion.

At the experiment station at the university important discoveries have also been made in controlling and eliminating stem rot, the dying of young plants in the seed bed, and rust, which promises to rid the tobacco grower in materially increasing the yield of his crop in the future.

"Under present conditions," said Prof. Johnson, "to produce a crop of tobacco from seed to bundle in Wisconsin is generally conceded to cost approximately $50. The average yield in Wisconsin can be placed safely at 1,250 pounds per acre. With an average price for sound leaf of ten cents per pound, the return per acre would be $125, and the average net return will then amount to $75 per acre."

FUN FOR THE "KIDDIES" IN PAINTING THESE AMUSING EGG MEN FOR EASTER.

Decorating Easter Eggs at Home.

Easter time, like Christmas, is dedicated primarily to the children, and so the question of finding something which will interest and amuse them is important. One suggestion which is universally practiced is the coloring of Easter eggs. For the benefit of those not familiar with the best method of setting about this work, the following directions are given:

Water color paints will do, but the Japanese transparent water colors that come in sheets will give better results. You can accomplish the decorating in half the time if you use two camel-hair brushes, the finest point for the outlines and a larger point for filling in work. Whatever white you use, only mix with the brushes and rub well on the colors used, then the eggs will not have a dusky appearance. Wait till each color dries thoroughly before adding another. Try and select odd-shaped eggs which will help to give different expressions. Use white eggs for the watermelon colored faces, potatoes and football, brown eggs for the chimney, jugs or Indians. To make the colored faces outline the eyes and mouth with sepia brown. (For this dries all in the face or cover the whole egg with the same color, using a little more water on the brush. When dry, paint the outlines with sepia and add black for the hair. You can give any style of expression to your faces. If two eggs are to be painted with, it is best to boil

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

THE FRENCH IN THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

By A. W. MACY.

France contributed more than 47,000 men to the American cause during the War of the Revolution, including all the officers and men of sixty-two naval vessels and thirteen regiments, who at one time or another cruised in our waters or landed on our shores. But they did not render very effective service. They came and went at their own will. The greatest number ashore at any one time was 8,400, and they took part in only two important battles, Savannah and Yorktown. At Savannah they lost 637 men and at Yorktown 186. Their services were more than offset by the Germans who fought with England. The latter numbered 29,867, of whom only 17,313 returned. They took part in nine important battles, and were always subject to the orders of the British commanders. In a financial way French assistance was much more valuable and effective. By the close of 1781 the French king had advanced to America the sum of 20,000,000 francs, exclusive of the cost of maintaining the French army and navy in America.

MACON TO ENTERTAIN THE "BOYS IN GRAY"

Fifty Thousand Visitors Expected to Attend Annual Reunion of United Confederate Veterans.

Macoon, Ga., May 3.—[Fifty thousand visitors are expected in Macoon next week for the annual national reunion of the United Confederate Veterans. Realizing that, by the very force of nature, they will probably never again have the opportunity to entertain the soldiers of the "lost cause," the citizens of Macoon are bending every energy to make the approaching gathering an event long to be remembered. Never in the history of the city have such elaborate preparations been made for the reception and entertainment of people from abroad as are being made for this occasion.]

Today the work of decorating the city was begun in earnest. By Monday morning the downtown section will be a mass of flags and bunting. The Confederate colors naturally will predominate, but the national colors will be liberally interspersed with the emblems of the "lost cause." The survivors of the mighty legions of Lee and Jackson, and the valiant followers of Forrest, Hill, Johnston and others too numerous to mention will be enthralled by the pictures of their leaders—the leaders who won imperishable fame on many a hard-fought field.

The reunion of this year will be the twenty-second annual session, and will be presided over by Lieut. Gen. C. Irvine Walker of Charleston, S. C., the commander-in-chief. Tuesday and Wednesday will be devoted to the business of the organization, and Thursday the parade of the old guard in gray will take place. The parade will be the climax of the celebration. Because of the advanced age of a great majority of the marchers the route will be short. The old soldiers will be given the most conspicuous place in the line. The sponsors will ride in automobiles and carriages.

The commander-in-chief and his staff, the governor of Georgia and his staff, and many distinguished visitors will review the parade from a grand stand at the intersection of Third and Cherry streets. In numerous cities and towns within a radius of 100 miles the public schools will give a holiday and hundreds of school children will come to Macoon to witness what they may never have a chance to see again—the veterans who are left of the armies of Virginia and Tennessee, led by Lee, Jackson, Johnston and Hood, the old flag, the old uniforms, and to hear "Dixie" and the old Confederate yell for the last time.

The old veterans will be the recipients of every attention during their stay in Macoon. Food in abundance and beautiful lodgings are gratuitously awaiting those who come and properly register. Thousands will find accommodations in the great tented city that is being erected in Macoon City Park where many of the Sons of Confederate Veterans will also be quartered. Scores of homes will be thrown open for the accommodation and entertainment of the ladies who will attend the reunion. The general executive committee having in charge all arrangements, announces that no extortionate fees will be exacted from visitors by the hotels and boarding houses.

In addition to the business of the United Confederate Veterans and of the kindred organizations which meet here—the Sons of Confederate Veterans, the United Daughters of the Confederacy and the Women's Confederate Memorial Association—there will be an elaborate program of amusement and entertainment. Of late years the social side of the reunions has become one of the most pleasing and prominent features of the annual gatherings. The custom of appointing young women, generally daughters of Confederate soldiers, to act as sponsors for the several states, no longer that not every state, but every division, brigade, regiment—in fact, every one of the 1,770 units appoint a sponsor and one or two maidens of honor. The sponsors have proved one of the most interesting features of the reunion and have given youth and brightness to the gathering.

Purses With Money in a Cod.

The purse was of leather, steel bound and in good preservation. It also contained some inscribed paper, which was reduced almost to pulp.

Poverty and Riches. Luke vi: 20-26; xvi: 1-13.

Golden Text—A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth. Luke xii: 15.

(1) Verse 20—Wherein consisteth the blessedness of poverty?

(2) Did Jesus mean that it was blessed to be poor or in the fact that the poor were to be delivered from their poverty?

(3) Why should the poor be more entitled to the kingdom of God than the rich?

(4) Verse 21—When a good man is hungry or when he weeps, is he going through, for the time being, the best possible experience for him and is therefore blessed? Give your reasons, that tell.

(5) The survivors of the mighty legions of Lee and Jackson, and the valiant followers of Forrest, Hill, Johnston and others too numerous to mention will be enthralled by the pictures of their leaders—the leaders who won imperishable fame on many a hard-fought field.

(6) With the world and human nature constituted as at present, would it be a blessing or a curse, and why, if all hunger, weeping and other pain were impossible?

(7) Verses 22-23—Wherein consisteth the blessedness of being hated for Jesus' sake?

(8) Under painful circumstances, even when recognized as blessed, is it always possible to be joyful and happy? Why or why not?

(9) If, for example, we are now suffering great pain, which is to result by and by in infinite pleasure, why would not a realization of the truth make our hearts glad?

(10) Verse 24—What is the one great penalty of riches?

(11) What can you say for or against the statement that it is wicked to be rich and virtuous to be poor? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(13) Verse 26—Is it possible for a man who is well pleasing to God to have all men speak well of him?

(14) Verses 27-28—How is it that in all time some have been very rich and some very poor?

(15) Which, and why, tends most to goodness, great poverty or great riches?

(16) Why did the poor man go to heaven and the rich man to hell?

(17) Why is there no necessary vice or virtue in being either rich or poor?

(18) Verses 29-30—What does this story teach concerning any alleviation of the suffering of the lost?

(19) Verses 31-32—If Wesley and Knox were to come back to the earth and preach, would they win more people for Christ than they did when here before? Give your reasons.

Living for Others.

There is light and sanity, safety and beauty in thinking, planning, working, living for others. It leads not to sin but away. It is a guide to peace, health and safety of the mind and the soul alike. But self-coddling, self-exaltation, self-interest run mad—that distortion of human nature is a potent lure to destruction. It is of the very essence of crime.—Exchange.

Remedy for Sprains.

Bruiise thoroughly one handful of green sage leaves, boil them in a gill of vinegar for ten minutes; apply to the sprained joint as a poultice between folded muslin. Heat the joint as much as possible.

Saving Postage Stamps.

When postage stamps stick together, never soak them in hot water. Instead, lay a piece of paper on top and pass over them with a hot iron. This will loosen the stamps and yet not remove the gum on the back.

GRAVE CHARGES ARE FILED AGAINST JUDGE

Robert W. Archbald.

Sensational allegations relating to Federal Circuit Judge Robert W. Archbald, a member of the United States Commerce Court, who hails from Pennsylvania, have been filed with the president and department of justice. It is alleged in brief that Judge Archbald had a conference in New York with George F. Brownell, vice president and general counsel of the Erie Railroad Company. That following the conference, one William Hama, an associate in interest with Judge Archbald, entered into negotiations with a subsidiary coal company of the Erie for the purchase of a large amount of soft coal, east side as useless some years ago, but subsequently found to be valuable. The price fixed for the coal is said to have been $3,500. It is alleged that following these negotiations the purchasers arranged to sell the coal to an electric railroad of Pennsylvania, the price fixed being $30,000. The gravity of the charges becomes evident when it is recalled that the commerce court must pass upon all questions affecting railroads, including the Erie.

That Shining Nose.

At the opera the young man who paid for the seats was engaged for a few tense moments in a study of a stunning woman of middle age who sat in the row in front. Then he turned to the girl at his right, and whispered, "Look at the lady in lavender; what is the matter with her nose?" The girl gave one glance at the shining "nob," then turned to her escort and whispered: "Enameled."
